Refreshing the AENEAS Technical Expert Group (TEG)

The AENEAS TEG has been set up to advise the AENEAS Management Committee in all technical matters relating to programmes and projects relevant to AENEAS activities. Primarily, this involves acting as evaluators, reviewers and mentors to EUREKA Cluster programmes managed by AENEAS, which now means Xecs. The TEG also has the opportunity to support the association's work within the existing or coming Working Groups and Task Forces.

In return for their involvement, experts get the opportunity to:

- Strengthen their knowledge of the ecosystem.
- Become aware of the trends and priorities.
- Enlarge their network by joining a vibrant community of very engaged experts in the field.
- Understand the inner workings of funding programmes.

To ensure that we have, in a controlled group size, all the in-depth knowledge required to carry out the TEG mission, we are launching a request for candidates to participate in the TEG. Any active AENEAS member may propose candidates to join that group. We welcome additional expertise across all domains covered by the Electronic Components and Systems Strategic Research and Innovation Agenda, and beyond, with a special emphasis in the following topics:

- Embedded Software and Beyond;
- Agrifood and Natural Resources;
- Integrated Photonics
- Quantum technologies: see the dedicated call for experts open until 30th October 2026.

Applications from SME representatives will be especially welcome.

The proposer is requested to fill in the attached form and submit it to Vincent Le Meau (lemeau@aeneas-office.org) no later than 23th November 2026.

The candidates will be assessed against the current expected requirements for the TEG and recommendations made for decision at the AENEAS Management Committee meeting on 7th December 2026.

We look forward to receiving your TEG applications!

Yours sincerely
